

Job Title: Creative Developers

Reports to: Creative Manager

Eagle Productivity Solutions is continuing to grow and is looking to fill a position on our Development Team. We are currently looking for a dedicated, organized and creative individual to fill the position of Creative Developer. This is a salaried, full-time position (eligible for employee benefits) for a six (6) month contract period with possible contract extension or full time direct hire thereafter dependent on business needs.

About Eagle

Eagle designs, develops, and delivers custom solutions through live, virtual, and computer-based training. We are one of the only training and consulting companies to offer our own brand of hands-on, skill-based training geared toward fundamentally changing human behavior to realize training success.

Eagle's success and growth comes from one primary source – a talented team of committed, impassioned employees. Our work environment is challenging, fast-paced and achievement-oriented. Continuous personal and professional growth is an exciting core element of working at Eagle as we strive to stay ahead of the changes that our customers face every day.

About This Job

Through a unique training development process, the team at Eagle works to design and deliver exceptional skills-based training through a variety of media formats. Each project at Eagle is unique and will offer you the chance to create dynamic training solutions, ranging from cutting-edge video- and e-learning solutions and a variety of other interactive digital media.

Duties and responsibilities for this job include:

- Work with a team of writers, graphic designers, developers, and production staff.
- Create and design concepts for large-scale client initiatives as well as smaller individual projects.
- Operate in a consultative role with clients, extracting pertinent information and requirements from customer meetings as well as assessment of the client's hardware and software.
- Create and apply custom graphics and other media for use in interactive digital courses and other training solutions.
- Develop and design job aids such as multimedia visual aids, eLearning tutorials and digital reference materials.
- Work closely with Creative Manager on new project development.
- Work with clients and internal team members to bring projects from concept to reality.

- Work with Creative Manager and clients to identify and create marketing and branding solutions.
- Delegate to and train others as needed.
- Provide creative and technical input as needed.

Education and Experience Required

- Bachelor's Degree in Graphic Design, Digital Media or a related field.
- Possess at least two (2) years of successful experience in graphic design, creative content development or print and/or digital product development.

Required Skills:

- Ability to read, write and communicate in English
- Experience with Adobe Creative Suite (Flash, Illustrator, InDesign, AfterEffects, Photoshop, etc.)
- Experience with Articulate Presenter and Storyline
- Microsoft Office Suite
- Advanced multimedia skills producing interactions that can play on any device
- Developing, presenting and selling design concept solutions to clients.

Additional experience in the following is desired, but not required:

- Experience with HTML5, JavaScript, and CSS
- Lectora and Captivate
- Experience in photography, videography, and/or audio production
- Experience producing and directing photo and video shoots
- Motion graphics and compositing
- Recording and editing voiceover recording
- Encoding video for web-based projects
- Familiarity with Learning Management System (LMS) publishing standards
- Experience serving in a client-facing role

Desired Attributes:

- A quality-minded individual with superior attention to detail
- Dedication, willingness and flexibility to meet tight and/or changing deadlines
- Able to work well and thrive in a fast-paced environment
- Inquisitiveness and desire to learn new things to grow with the company's needs
- Outstanding organizational and time management skills
- An excellent communicator and a team player with a positive attitude and strong interpersonal skills
- Must have the ability to create, understand and work within budgets and schedules
- Ability to gather and synthesize customer and market feedback
- Ability to communicate professionally and effectively across levels of the organization

To apply for this exciting opportunity, please submit your résumé, portfolio, and salary requirements. Please note, a portfolio is required.
