

Maintenance Mechanic

What's in it for you?

- Full time hours
- B shift (some mandatory weekends)
- Competitive Pay based on experience
- All the overtime one could want
- Temporary to hire (based on performance) at a company to build a career with

What is the job?

- Perform preventative maintenance and repair services for production equipment and ancillary equipment throughout the shop. This includes dealing with electrical control panels, plumbing, hydraulic, pneumatic, and mechanical operating systems.
- Possess a sound understanding of troubleshooting problems with equipment when necessary as well as perform emergency repairs, while maintaining equipment's operational efficiency.
- Ability to define problems, collect data, establish facts, and draw valid conclusions using reasoning and decision making skills to ensure quality work.
- Demonstrates enthusiasm, takes initiative, and works with a sense of urgency.
- Demonstrates learning agility and the ability to understand and interpret an extensive variety of technical instructions including schematics and manufacturing drawings.
- To maximize production demands, and machine efficiencies the skill of solid time and change management will be needed.
- Ability to regularly communicate and work with a team where the purpose of contact is to provide and/or receive information, explanation, or interpretation of information.
- Utilize a variety of machines and hand tools used for adjusting, fabricating, fitting, and checking production equipment for its repair and/or replacement.
- Any other tasks as assigned by Management.

What you bring to the job?

- High School Diploma or GED
- Ability to read and interpret pneumatic, electromechanical and also hydraulic schematics
- 1 year+ + of basic welding skills and experience
- Previous forklift experience in a manufacturing environment
- Ability to pass drug screen, background check, respirator physical
- 3+ years of Heavy Industrial Maintenance Technician / Mechanic experience
- A great attitude and ability to work alone or in a team environment

HOW TO APPLY: Submit resume by email: Kristin.smith@manpower.com