

PLATING AND POWDER COATING ASSOCIATES

Are you looking for a way to begin a career where you will gain valuable experience and have opportunities to advance within a rapidly growing organization? Then, Coating Technology, Inc, located at 800 St. Paul Street, Rochester, NY, can provide you with a great career! We were recently purchased by Arnprior Rapid Manufacturing Solutions, Inc., which is a highly-successful Machining company, particularly focused on Aerospace and Government work.

We are looking for a Plating and Powder Coating Associate, particularly with powder coating experience, to join our team. Plating and Coating are used for a wide variety of applications that include commercial, industrial, military defense, and aerospace. The process protects the manufactured item, and is a vital part of protecting materials from the harsh conditions they will be exposed to.

Being an Associate offers a great start to your manufacturing career or an opportunity to expand your manufacturing experience. You will be provided all of the necessary training and product knowledge needed to be successful in this role, and have the means to become an expert in these fields.

Enjoy a bright future with a great company that offers a career opportunity, not just a job!

If you have a serious work ethic, great attention to detail and basic math skills, this career is for you. Mentioning Powder Coating experience will definitely give your resume serious consideration. In return, we will provide you excellent pay and a great benefits package that includes medical, dental and 401(k).

Starting pay if new in this career: roughly $10.00 per hour, more based upon experience!

WE ARE AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER